

We're on a mission.

FREE WORLD ONE is on a mission to save the world. (Yes, seriously)

We believe that free access to all basic living requirements is now a fundamental human right of all twenty-first century citizens.

We recognise that, technically, our species' millennia-old battle for survival has already been decisively won, and that our method of controlling resources through markets and labour is now outdated, inefficient and unfair to the majority of people.

We realise that by combining the power of community with available technology, we can meet everyone's needs easily and sustainably, while creating better communities.

So we are here to help make that happen.

Our mission

To create, promote and support projects that advance a free world ethos through a philanthropic business that generates revenue from its projects, invests in new ones, and returns profits to its shareholders.

How it works

While we envision the future of our species as evolving beyond a market system, we are also aware of the practical difficulties in promoting those aims in a society where people's basic survival needs are inextricably linked to that system.

As such, FREE WORLD ONE is a hybrid enterprise that seeks to bridge both worlds; on the one hand promoting our free world message, while on the other, leveraging the existing system to maintain and grow our operations.

We have identified three areas of interest that fit well with our founding ethos, and which also have significant commercial potential. These are:

- Education
- Raising awareness
- Prototyping

In each of these areas we have projects that have significant commercial potential which can help us spread those ideas to many more people.

We are now crowd-funding investment in our company in order to pursue these commercial avenues, promote our aims, and bring back the benefits in profit to our investors.

You could call it a win-win-win situation!

An educational book series

LifeGames is an educational product that we have been developing for around a year. It is a book series aimed at children aged from 4 to 12 to learn essential life skills such as empathy, respect, communication, sharing and cooperation in a classroom environment through the medium of games.

These will be vital learning tools in a future world driven by cooperation and compassion.

This product is already in development and we expect to bring it to market (UK/Ireland initially) in 2019. It will be released in both print and app formats.

We have already conducted preliminary market research which found that 85% of teachers polled would use this product.

The UK and Irish market for this product is potentially worth around €20M, and the books and activities will be presented in a culture-neutral format that can easily be exported and translated to other markets too.

A centralised community resource network

Freeworlder.com is a community platform that helps facilitate delivery of local services and the sharing of goods and services between users on the network.

The site and app are designed to meet the needs of local councils, charities and NGOs to help deliver their services effectively. Features are community alerts, events, announcements, resources available and sought, cell broadcasts, weather warnings, etc.

Being community-orientated, users also actively engage in sharing their available resources, skills and knowledge freely with other users. It's an entirely community-powered circular economy.

The service is free to use, but organisation accounts like councils, NGOs, etc, pay a nominal annual charge which maintains the site and creates a healthy income stream.

A series of live events

Beginning in March 2019, FW1 will be hosting the first of its Alt+Shift events.

These events will take place in various venues all around the world, with a single theme: The future.

The underlying idea is to create a conversation locally and give life to potentially controversial or radical ideas that might not get a platform otherwise.

Speakers will be invited from all disciplines to air their views on what the best future for our species looks like. Events will also be infused with a good mix of local art and culture to create a full sensory experience.

Where possible, the events will be streamed live and each contribution will be recorded and published later in the same way as a TED talk.

Raising awareness through a feature film

Following on from the success of Colin R. Turner's (founder) novel F-Day: The Second Dawn of Man, a movie script is now also under way.

An F-Day movie could be the perfect vehicle for delivering a more compassionate world ethos to a mainstream audience.

F-Day tells a near-future story of how the world moves beyond market economics towards an open, sharing economy in an action-packed adventure that is also highly visual.

Though early in development, the movie idea has already caught the attention of several US film industry professionals, including one producer.

Once the script is complete, we will be able to ascertain whether to approach established studios, or to opt for independent production. Both have distinct advantages and disadvantages.

What we need

FREE WORLD ONE is a start-up enterprise like any other. We require capital investment in order to develop and bring our products to market.

We are currently in our first funding phase and are looking to raise €100,000 to complete the development and design of the LifeGames book series. This product in particular is the one that we can get to market quickest and is also likely to be the most profitable.

We are offering shares in our company for early investors at a price of just €1 per share. You can invest as little as one share, or you can pay a fixed monthly amount while shares are still available.

- Remember, this is not a donation. By supporting our company and ethos, you get to share in the profits as the business grows.

There will be a second round of funding later in the year to raise the capital required to bring those books to market. (It's likely that second round shares will be priced higher, so early investment is advised)

We expect FREE WORLD ONE to be in profit in less than three years, and thereafter to experience significant growth as we open up our products to other markets and develop our other products.

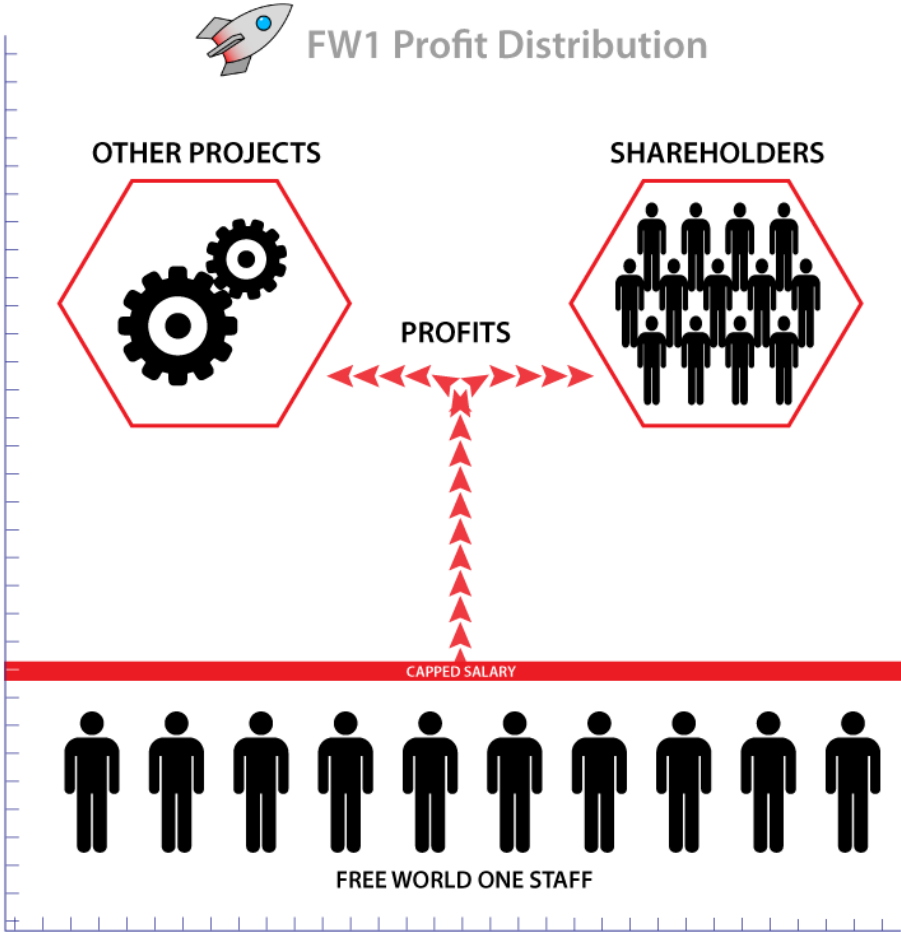

Your investment now will help ensure a solid financial base for the company as we work to bring these projects to fruition. [\[Business Model & Projections\]](#)

Why invest?

Apart from the obvious financial rewards, there are a few other reasons why FREE WORLD ONE is different from any other investment you will ever make:

- We are a hybrid, philanthropic company
- All staff wages are capped at the same fixed maximum
- You have a democratic say in how the business is run
- All accounts and expenditure are completely open and transparent
- We are a distributed enterprise with almost zero fixed costs
- We only pick staff with a proven track record in eco-philanthropy
- We already have a large global following of 60,000 people
- We have the aims of a non-profit, but the perks of a business
- There is a massive emerging market for alternative, eco and community solutions which we are perfectly positioned to take full advantage of – and for everyone's mutual benefit.

Profit distribution and salary capping

The team

Colin R. Turner, founder, creative director

Colin has been at the forefront of promoting socio-economic change since 2011 with his work as founder of The Free World Charter, HonorPay and Freeworlder. He is also the author of two Amazon top 100 selling books: F-Day: The Second Dawn Of Man and Into The Open Economy.

Sarah McIver, co-founder, marketing director

Sarah has over 15 years experience running her own marketing communications company for a worldwide clientéle including many multinational companies. Her knowledge and experience across the for-profit and non-profit sectors has enabled her to create highly effective communications for philanthropic endeavours.

Lukarte Turner, creative coordinator

Lukarte is a creative artist and illustrator, with a big passion for colours, shapes and creating things with her hands. She has a decade of experience in working with children through play, music and social contact.

What motivates us

We are motivated – and feel obligated – to attempt to remedy the unnecessary injustices we see around us like poverty, financial stress, employment uncertainty, environmental waste and biodiversity loss by reawakening our innately cooperative and compassionate desires and combining them with the best of technology to create a society that supports everyone unconditionally and sustainably with minimal effort.

We believe FREE WORLD ONE has an actionable direction and mechanism for effecting these simple changes to our social habits within our current model through education, raising awareness, and leading by example.

If, like us, you are passionate about creating a better world for ourselves, our children and our planetary cohabitants, then join us today and let's work together to make it happen.

Let's invest in the Future.

freeworldone.com

NOTES:

1. Although Free World One is a for-profit company, our main mission is to promote social change. While we fully expect to return reasonable profits to our investors, this is not our highest purpose. If your sole interest in investing is to maximize a return, you might wish to consider other alternatives.
2. For legal reasons, shares offered at the initial funding stage are promissory shares which will be automatically legitimised into legal shares as soon as we have completed the relevant legal compliance and founding processes.
3. As with any business investment, there are risks and no guarantees. Always seek legal advice before making an investment.
4. Online share purchases are processed in Euro through PayPal in Euro currency. If paying in a currency other than Euro, PayPal will apply a standard retail conversion rate.
5. You can make either a single or monthly payments. Monthly payments will continue to aggregate shares (while available) at the current rate. If you are paying monthly and shares no longer become available, or a funding round ends, you will be notified and payments will be automatically cancelled.
6. Share prices are subject to change. If the share price changes during a monthly payment cycle, you will continue to be deducted the original cash amount, rounded to the nearest equivalent number of shares.
7. You can also make a single SEPA payment directly to the Free World One bank account. If you wish to make a direct payment, please contact us and we will give you the details and a reference number to include with your payment.